RECLAIMING LOVE

Connecting the Head and the Heart

by Fr. Martin Connor, LC

Now available at rcspirituality.org

See video study guides at rcspirituality.org

For bulk orders:
https://rcspirituality.org/bulk-order-reclaiming-love/

Praise for Reclaiming Love

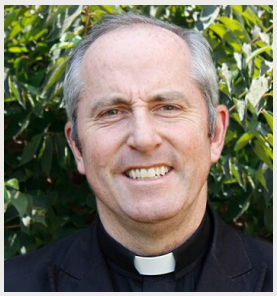
The universal cry of the heart is to love and be loved. We are wired for love and it's the key to experiencing joy. And that's what can make us so vulnerable to the many counterfeit versions of love. Reclaiming Love is a practical guide to help readers take hold of the authentic love they were made to give and receive. Inspired by the teachings of Theology of the Body, Fr. Martin's book also provides an excellent resource for youth and marriage leaders who want to open the ways of healthy human love to others.

Christopher West, Th.D.President, Theology of the Body Institute

"Reclaiming Love provides practical guidance to help your relationships become healthier and stronger. Father Martin Connor gives much needed insight into how we can be truly human. Much wisdom has been lost in modern times. This book reclaims it. I highly recommend this resource for personal reflection and small group discussion."

Lisa Brenninkmeyer, Founder, Chief Purpose Officer at Walking with Purpose, The Modern Women's Guide to the Bible.

Fr. Martin Connor, LC



Fr. Martin Connor, LC, grew up in Baltimore, Maryland, among many siblings. He was ordained a Legionary priest in 2001, and he has worked extensively in Europe and the United States in young adult and marriage ministry. He currently lives and works in the southeastern United States, encouraging young adults to be fearless and follow Christ. He is the author of Ten Reflections on the Kingdom.

rcspirituality
REGNUM CHRISTI SPIRITUALITY CENTER